Further Seems Forever, Someone You Know

Watch somebody fall from grace When there's nobody there to take their place You can't help but feel alone

You left guilt in your own device There was no one there to tell you to think twice You can't help but feel alone

All the times we were losing sight There's eternal, there's no light alone It could be someone you know

The times we felt all the pain is real We couldn't help the way we feel, come on This could be someone you know

This life keeps calling (this life) This life keeps calling on and on This life keeps calling (this life) This life, it keeps calling on and on

Take my soul I Take my soul I Break my heart I'm Ready ready ready when you are Take my soul I Break my heart I'm Ready ready ready

You watch somebody turn away You've waited all of your life to see one day You can't help but feel alone

And all the times we were losing sight There's no shadows there's no light, come on This could be someone you know

This life keeps calling (this life) This life keeps calling on and on This life keeps calling (this life) This life, it keeps calling on and on

Take my soul I Take my soul I Break my heart I'm Ready ready ready when you are Take my soul I Break my heart I'm Ready ready ready when you are Ready ready ready! Ready ready ready when you are Ready ready ready!