Fury In The Slaughterhouse, Brainsong

I went to the hospital asked for a general check the doctor said yes and started to stick needles into my back they sucked out all my blood made me piss into a glass I was connected to machines for thousands of tests what a gas!

your brain can fool your body it makes you feel pain even when you're not ill
it fools your body
it makes you feel pain even when you're not ill

now I'm still lying in my hospital bed feeling the pain and my little flame of life is left standing in the rain the nurse over me look like a monster out of the drain and nobody knows what I've got so they test me again

your brain can fool your body
it makes you feel pain even when you're not ill
it fools your body
it makes you feel pain even when you're not ill