

Gabrielle, 5 O'Clock

it's five o'clock in the morning, and I cannot sleep

I'm looking at you beside me, and I'm watching you breathe baby

I touch your face

feel your warmth you're now a part of me

I don't know what I would do if you were ever to leave

I want you to be, practically given your heart away to me baby

I made a promise to you that I'll be keeping it safe, I never give it away, no, no, no, no,

(chorus: you should know, I never plan to let you go you should care I made my promise to be here) made for each other that's what our friends all keep on saying

I got a feeling they're right but I just don't wanna say no I don't wanna tempt fate my friend my lover there's nothing I can't ask of you you're always there for me whenever I'm needy of you you're always true baby, baby

(chorus)

my mind goes back to a time that wasn't long ago your confirmation of love for me you captured my soul, would made me feel whole what we got is good we gotta keep a hold on it our obligation to love is something we know exists, we're two parts that fit

(chorus)

I know I'm saying this when you already understand, love's never easy between a woman and a man some things in life will never come to you so easily

I want your kind of love and not from someone grieving me..no, no, no, no

(chorus)
