

Ganggajang, I Will

(M.Callaghan)

When she calls this lonesome neighbour,
Love is nervously creeping around
Whispering there's a life defined
By your love sometimes, by your love sometimes'

Listen though the heart is aching
Listen though the worlds collide
Listen when the truth is haunting you again
These nights and all these days
You washed away my loneliness
And I'll repay you
Are the one who can
Keep me strong
And it will always be that way, you know that

I will walk beside you now
I will call you friend
Even in the darkest winter
Or under the blinding sun
Even when the faith of ages
Deserts you
These years here drive on by Cars full of youthfulness
Along life's highway
Leads us on -
Who knows where we're going
But I'm sure we'll get there anyway

I will walk beside you now
I will call you friend
I will walk beside you now
I will be there till the end

When things go wrong
When you don't feel strong
When you need someone
Who can help you through

I will walk these miles with you
I will call you friend
I will I will walk beside you
I will I will walk beside you