

Gary Jules, Keep

And the dream comes to the surface
And you know you're not asleep
Pictures come crawling through the cracks in your eyes
A mind is hard to keep

She said its
Natural
For you to be afraid
She said its
Natural
To despise what you have made
Made

She could feel her city melting
She goes out of the gate
And into the street
Shes so surprised to find
The world outside alive
And the earth beneath her feet

She said its
Natural
To build before you learn
She said its
Natural
To want see a city burn
A city burn
Yeah

And we could build a wall around us
And we could crawl across the floor
Lately I've been thinking to myself
We can't stay here anymore

Green lights for the living
Green lights for the dead
Green lights for the lady
Trapped inside my head

Who said its
Natural
To die before you change
She said its
Natural
To tear before the re-arrange
Re-arrange

And we could build a wall around us
And we could crawl across the floor
Lately I've been thinking to myself
We don't need it anymore

Whoa its a little bit funny
Whoa its a little too hard
Whoa she's a little bit worried
Whoa it's a little too far
Far

And the dream comes to the surface
