

Gary Moore, Trust Your Lovin'

(Tony Newton/Willie Dee)

I trust your lovin', (trust your lovin')
it's so good to me. (trust your lovin')
I trust your lovin', baby.

I've got your love (trust your lovin')
to keep me warm at night. (trust your lovin')
And lord, I know you'll never leave me lonely.

And when the cold wind blows,
I know that you, you always,
always will be around.
I've got you for eternity,
nothing can separate you from me.

I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.
It's so good to me.

Oh no, your love is my life.
And darling, I need you by my side.
With you I feel no change,
still I'm always in your power.

And when the cold wind blows,
I know that you, you always,
always will be around.
I've got you for eternity,
nothing can separate you from me.

I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.
It's so good to me.

Oh no, no darlin'.
I need you baby, yeah.
Yeah-yeah, no.

I've got you for eternity,
nothing can separate you from me.

I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.
It's so good to me.

I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.

I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.
I trust your lovin'.
Well, I trust your love.
I trust your lovin'.
