Gary Numan, Steel And You

It's so quiet and dark And I shouldn't be here This machine won't last For always

Just my steel friend and me I stand brave by his side This machine is all I live for

I can see in your eyes You're not so sure about me This machine is my voice Please listen

It's so noisy and bright And I just love being here This machine will last For my life