

Gene Loves Jezebel, Beyond Doubt

Living day by day, we're dodging in and out

Tell me where we're going to, put it beyond all doubt

Would it be so foolish to be caught in two minds

For me must make that choice, no point in looking back

I do not possess the words always done

To put you at your ease, except that you should go

Is there something you should tell me

Is this the time of bliss

Should I live without you

I dare not contemplate
