

George Harrison, Ballad of sir Frankie Crisp

Let it roll across the floor Through the hall and out the door To the fountain of perpetual mirth Let it