

George Lamond, Distant Heart

Distant heart girl I need you right now torn apart
And I can't live without your love
Keep the feeling alive distant heart
Won't you come back to me

I don't want to know why you walked away from me
I don't want to know who's holding you now
All I've ever dreamed, girl, and all I'll ever be Lives inside your heart, I've got to make you see
If I could I would be by your side
But girl you are so far away
All I have left is the hole deep inside
The miles between us will fade

Distant heart please come back to my side, torn apart
Something beautiful's dying, our love
Can't we keep it alive distant heart

I see you on the street
You stop and say hello
Though I try to smile
Inside I'm dying
You talk about your life
I'm about to lose control
Better get away before the tears begin to fall

If I could I'd find words that would say how your touch makes me feel deep inside
Girl you're so close but you're so far away
I've got to cross over that line

Distant heart please come back to my side torn apart
Something beautiful's dying, our love
Can't we keep it alive distant heart
Hope you come back and live in my life
Distant heart girl I need you right now, torn apart
And I can't live without you love
Keep the feeling alive distant heart
Please come back in my life

Girl you're so close but you're so far away
I've got to cross over that line

Distant heart please come back to my side torn apart
Something beautiful's dying, our love
Can't we keep it alive distant heart
Hope you come back and live in my life
Distant heart girl I need you right now, torn apart
And I can't live without you love
Keep the feeling alive distant heart
Please come back in my life