George Morgan, Roses

Roses I send you roses With all the love their tender blossoming discloses Just like my arms they'll open wide You'll see my heart inside

Please dear embrace the roses Until I come to you and when the long day closes Our spark of love will burst to flame And put the red red roses to shame [piano] Please dear embrace the roses...