

Gerry Rafferty, Clear Day

Wake up in the morning with the sunshine
Through my window and it's making me rise
Wake up in the morning with the sunshine
Through my window and it's filling my eyes
Wake up in the morning with the sunshine
Through my window you know it looks alright
It looks alright.

I may be tired but I'm laughing
In everything I see the things that you do
I may be tired but I'm laughing
In everything and I see you laughing too
I may be tired but I'm laughing
In everything you know it feels alright
It's alright.

I used to worry about just where I was going to
But today it is all clear.

Because the fog has lifted and I can see
Something better than I've seen before
Because the fog has lifted and I can see
Something better and it's opened my door
Because the fog has lifted and I can see
Something better and it's alright
It's alright.

I used to worry about just where I was going to
But today it is all clear.

I can feel something alive inside of me
Telling me where to put my feet
I can feel something alive inside of me
Telling me that it's nearly complete
I can feel something alive inside of me
Telling me it's gonna be alright
Alright.

Words and Music By: Joe Egan, Rab Noakes, and Gerry Rafferty
Published By: Baby Bun Music Ltd. / Noakes Music Ltd. / Polygram Songs
Drums/Percussion: Arran Ahmun
Bass Guitar: Pete Zorn
Piano/Strings: Pavel Rosak
Electric Guitar: Bryn Haworth
Mandolin: Bryn Haworth
Acoustic Guitars: Rab Noakes / Bryn Haworth / Gerry Rafferty
Lead Vocals: Gerry Rafferty
Backing Vocals: Nicky Moore / Liane Carroll / Gerry Rafferty