

Giant, Innocent Days

Oh here I am, looking back again, at the road that led to you
Oh the time's alright, tryin' to save myself from looking out at you
I walk alone, while you are waiting, but somehow you saw through me
And now I'm standing at your door, you're the only one I need

Chorus:

It takes two, two hearts that beat together, to make it feel like one
Body and soul surrender, when love has just begun

It takes two, it takes two

I've been blinded by this fear inside that love is just a game

You distract yourself with someone else, and both havin' travelled in pain

Bow now I see the road I've taken, will lead me to nothing more Than empty rooms without your love, girl, I'm standing at your door

chorus - oho

(Instrumental break)

I walk alone while you are waiting, I know where I'm wanting to be

So now I'm standing at your door, you're the only one I need

It takes two, two hearts that beat together, to make it feel like one

Oh one life with you, one life with you

chorus
