

Gilman Billy, There's A Hero

There's a flower in the smallest garden reaching for the light
There's a candle in the darkest corner conquering the night
There is amazing strength in a willing hand
There are victories that you've never planned

There's a hero in everybody's heart

There's a fire inside of everybody burning clear and bright
There's a power in the faintest heart beat that cannot be denied

Go on and trust yourself you can you can ride the wind your gonna take your dreams where they've never been

There's a hero in everybody's heart

Go on and trust yourself you can you can ride the wind
your gonna take your dreams where they've never been

There's a hero in everybody's heart
There's a hero in everybody's heart
