Gits, Seaweed

There is a silence that paces us all It's sensitive to the peace that we've known
And if I could take that crevice in me I'd fill it up with all that you bleed I was walking into the water and I was trying not to breathe I could feel the current pulling and I just kept in deeper I'm sick of the pain that you're feeling It's weighing you down
If I could erase it all within just one dive I wrap you precious around my soul and now I'm letting you go as I drown these evil spirits and penetrate the obstacles
I feel the seaweed creeping up my skin It's like a monster that's reaching for me with the passion of life I've got left i'm gonna use it to sacrifice myself well, I dove down into the seaweed Scared once before, but not anymore
As it twists and turns me away from the surface Here's my chance of letting it go I'm sick of the pain that I'm feelin It's weighing me down
If I could erase it all within just one fuckin' dive
I wrap you precious around my soul
and now I'm letting you go as I drown these evil spirits and penetrate the obstacles
