

Glasseater, Krista

"let me start by saying thank you.
in the past we've all had our mistakes.
i've crushed a lot of hearts,
but only because mine's been stomped to the ground way before.
so i figured i'd set up a wall, a barrier, and cast away...any joy of ever being with someone.
and when i thought that because of my actions,
i would suffer the penalties of being alone...you came along.
the only medicine i ever needed was you.
kisses heard throughout the night,
your sweat dripping down my lips.
feeling blessed being entrapped in your arms,
all the wrong in my life disappears when i'm with you.
i want to breathe you in (hold you in)
as long as i can go...(breathless)
i want to breathe us out...(full of life)
i want to wake up and be everything with you."