

Glenn Hughes, I'm Not Your Slave

Why have you been so complicated
You took a hold on me
I've never been so aggravated
Won't you listen carefully

You paint a tragedy, confess yourself to me
And I will take it to my grave
Your last mistake you see, you're
Damned and now I'm free
Because I'm not your slave

Why do you push me into the shadows
Why do you bear no shame
How can you tell me that nothin'
Else matters
When you, don't even know my name

I'm not your slave
