

Gnarls Barkley, She Knows

Up, up and away she goes
Now I know that I know she knows
Who would want to live a lie?
But neither will I
If she still try to try

But remarkably, my son
All my work is done

Wouldn't surprise me to see her ghost
She would like me to know she knows

And I'm almost sure
I was absolutely nothing before
Now I'm so, so much more

The one word that describes the past
I'm pretty much possessed

We are the reason, I suppose
And we've spoken so I know she knows

Now what's one to sacrifice
When you live more than twice
Or when I bet it's nice

Gonna be just like you
I'm giving my life, too

No other woman would wear your clothes
And it goes without saying she knows
She knows