

God Forbid, Soul Engraved

And in the end I'll rise
And in the end I'll rise
Endured the event that (Event that)
Should have been my demise
Looking forward to new life, my second chance
In a candid instance I witness life flash before my eyes
My sense of purpose is encouraged by my will to survive
Survive

Looking past that day toward my future
What will it be? Knowing what must be done

And it shows my seams are frayed (Seams are frayed)
Give me the strength
Strength to make this change
And my soul has been engraved (Engraved)
Give me the strength
The strength to face the day
The strength to make this change

Shattered and bruised from a selfless act
My spirit not broken
I'm back with a vengeance, fists clenched
To grasp this destiny
My will to conquer all
Understanding of what I must do

Looking past that day toward my future
What will it be? Knowing what must be done

And it shows my seams are frayed
Give me the strength
The strength to face the day
And my soul has been engraved (Engraved)
Give me the strength
The strength to face the day
The strength to make this change

Strength to make this change
Strength to make this change
