

Goldie Hill, Lonely Heartaches

It seems a thousand tears ago I told you how I love you so
But lonely heartaches lonely heartaches are all you gave me for a love so true
A brand new hurt for every day that's how you pass the time away
But now those heartaches lonely heartaches you gave to me are coming home to you

In your world of broken vows you made a stepping stone
Of every one who's fool enough to love just you alone
How your new love has say goodbye the time has come for you to cry
And all those heartaches lonely heartaches you gave to me are coming home to you
In your world of broken vows...