

Gordon Lightfoot, It's Too Late, He Wins

The days may come, the days may go
Like the dreams of love that we shared so long ago
It's the time, it's the place to realize that I was wrong
It's too late, he wins and it's there that you belong

It's there you will find all the love I couldn't give
While I live in regret, for as long as I may live
The years will pass but your memory will live on
It's too late, he wins and it's there that you belong

It's there you will find all the love I couldn't give
It's there you will stay, for as long as you may live

It's the time, it's the place to realize that I was wrong
It's too late, he wins and it's there that you belong
It's too late, he wins and it's there that you belong