

Gordon Lightfoot, Summer side of life

He came down through fields of green
On the summer side of life
His love was ripe
There were no ill