

Great Big Sea, Can't Stop Falling

I wasn't looking for a lover,
I wasn't looking for a friend
I wasn't working undercover, wasn't trying to pretend
But when you walked across the dance floor, just like the moon across the sky
I knew that I would have to see more, knew that I would have to try
One look into your eyes, and I realize...

Chorus

Oh no I can't stop falling
My heart betrays me
And I know I'll start to feel it all again
Won't someone save me
She jumped aboard the brown line,
I accidentally caught her eye
She told me she was born a Libra,
I told her I was Gemini
She made suggestive conversation, then she lightly brushed my hand Overcome by her temptations, we jumped off down by the strand
And in the English night, I realize it again...

Chorus

Bridge

She asks me to come inside, we can just talk for a while I wonder if I should but her touch, her touch, it feels so good.
But I look into your eyes, and I realize it again.

Chorus
