

Great White, Run Away

(Williams, Niven)

Surrounded by a thousand eyes the strangers in the night A city full of broken hearts burning like white light The streets are made of promises you never get to keep The streets are full of dreamers walking in their sleep You come to me for easy livin' starlight in your eyes Don't you know it's all or nothin'
Leave before you cry
Run away
You never liked what dady said He never understands the heartaches of a little girl who needs a magic man Young hearts chasing images along the boulevards Young hearts lose their innocence reaching after stars
You come to me for easy lovin' diamonds in your eyes Don't you see the fall that's comin'
Leave before you cry
Run Away
