

Green River, Baby, Help Me Forget

As she withered away before my eyes
I guess I contemplate the meaning at her bedside
I was helpless, all I could do was cry
No longer able to hold it to the inside

I thought I was dead when I found her
She saved my life and now she's gone
I thought I was dead when I found her
Where does that leave me now?

I could've died a million times
I'm not sure if I really lived
I'm gonna die at least one more time
I'm still not sure if I've even lived

I thought I was dead when I found her
She saved my life and now she's gone
I thought I was dead when I found her
Where does that leave me now?
Where does that leave me now?

Everywhere I look I see her face
And I can't get her out of my head
Unless you come over to my place
And lie down in my bed
Baby, help me forget
Why don't you help me?
I need your help
Baby, help me forget
