Greg Graffin, Predicament

I've got hope but I can't talk about the future I've got desire but I can't exercise it on my own Time won't solve this predicament Time won't solve this predicament I've got pain but to tell it hurts the one I love I've got strength but it attenuates every day Time won't solve this predicament Time won't solve this predicament Troubles never go away They just resurface on another day Troubles never go away They just resurface on another day I've got heart but now it's weakened by an empty space I've got soul but it's been soured by the bane of hate Time won't solve this predicament Time won't solve this predicament Troubles never go away They just resurface on another day Troubles never go away They just resurface on another day Time won't solve this predicament (x4)