

Greg Raposo, Worthless

I woke up today with a revelation
An introduction to the truth
And I know the world is round and What goes up comes down and
Maybe I, finally got it figured out

(chorus)

A moment is worthless no meaning, purpose
Every breath is just wasted
If you are not the center of my world
I'm just drifting, barely existing
Cause every minute without you is worthless
Without you is worthless

And you know the state of my condition
Yet you hold me anyway and
I won't a step unless it's your direction
Where was I, before I finally realized

(chorus)

A moment is worthless no meaning, purpose
Every breath is just wasted
If you are not the center of my world
I'm just drifting, barely existing
Cause every minute without you is worthless
Without you is worthless

There's a void, there's a space
And you're inches away
There's a tone in your voice and
It makes me feel brave
There's a glow in my eye's
That shows I'm alive

(chorus)

A moment is worthless no meaning, purpose
Every breath is just wasted
If you are not the center of my world
I'm just drifting, barely existing
Cause every minute without you is worthless
Without you is worthless

Cause I revolve around you
I can't live another day
Without you every step of my way
Without you is worthless