Grizzly Bear, Sleeping Ute

Dreamed a long day Just wandering free Though I'm far gone You sleep nearer to me

If I could find peace If this night bleeds But I can't help myself

So I walk out These wandering dreams Of the north road Dressed gold and green

If I could lie still
As that grey hill
But I can't help myself

But it's calm and it's clear Collapsed here on the stone Delivered to this place A vision dark and cloaked

And those figures through the leaves
And that light through the smoke
And those countless empty days
Made me dizzy when I woke
And I live to see your face
And I hate to see you go
But I know no other way
Than straight on out the door

And I can't help myself /3x
