

Guardian, I Found Love

I was alone without a love to show me Been down so many empty roads in my time looking for a reason to live my life Your love and your tenderness means everything to me
You know your all I want you're my reason to believe

I've been around enough to know I found love
when you walked through my door Since you came into my life you took away my broken heart

All my days spent searching for that rainbow I've spent some lonely nights trying to find a reason to live my life Your love is pouring down on me like sweet summer rain Your love is like the sweetest song all of heaven sing s your name

I lie awake at night and thank you for your love All the times that you carried me when my world had come undone I can feel my love for you growin' stronger day by day and everything you are to me is more than words can say
