

Gutterball, Patent Leather Shoes

got a rented Chevy, it's an out-of-towner leaning on the rack by the check-out counter got the Globe and the Star and some cayenne pepper promise to bring her back just the way that I left her they say that good things come in two's here's a little news you can use everybody says you've nothing to lose you look good in patent leather shoes

I hear your mama was a teenage queen cover of November Sassy Magazine well, it's not your mama that I crave where did you ever learn to behave?

ch.

I hear the boys are lining up outside of your house 24 hours a day you've been drawing crowds well, I bet you've got something there that you wanna hide cause everybody want's to get inside

ch.

hey, going my way...
how old did you say you were..