

Gym Class Heroes, Coming Clean listen babe I think its time for me to come clean I mean I haven't been the most faithful and i dont know how else to say this plain and simple I been cheatin belive me this isnt easy especially since youve been so good to me the hardest thing ive ever done is tellin you your not the only one just understand this you made a man outta ignorance and like a boy i toyed with innocence this double lifes not worth livin not givin more to her and i apologize

[chorus]
and its all part of the game its just the same old thing with a different name and we can try and drown the pain but we both swim to submerge ourselves and im tired of the shame of bein the fool too cool to mantain two dames and all i need is time please forgive me darling the blames all mine

when i come home to you with open arms insist on pressin on my overcoat the alcohol and still cigarette smoke i know youve been skeptical i play it off like your dillusional the fact is that im losin you and im scared she doesnt want me the way i need her to know she doesnt want me the way i need her to im pleading with the judge on my knees god please just make these charges go away

[chorus]
girl i promise ill do my best to impress the jury cause when the smoke settles and one of us falls to the dirt it was worth all of the hurt and if not lets cut our losses cause you crossed the line thinkin id choose you over music thats just stupid this whole situations bogus especially since im so focused from the beggining to the end and we in with these friends unfortunatley this is hopeless did my best to juggle both of you struggled but im still here holdin you tie the man up stand up put your hands up if you understand what im goin through

[chorus]
