Hail The Villain, Mission Control

Count down the days until the end of the world We sleep, but the sky is falling Bombs burst in air, they tear up the inside Make no mistake, they dont care they Take my heart right from this chest Take all and kill the rest Take my hear right from this chest Take all Build them up to blow them off Build them up to blow them off Line us up to take the fall Blind enough to kill us all Far from the blast we hear the engines subside Cant sleep cause the earth is burning Push past the edge we pledge only to die Cross off the loss, they dont care they