

Hall Kristen, Nothing

one day i marvel at its beauty and next i marvel at its pain the world is such a big idea, such a big idea and pain gets locked inside a child and there's a child in us all and that is such a big idea, such a big idea and mama it's not just irrelevant nonsense
what are you hiding?
where is your conscience?
you expect me to follow
but i'm stronger than you
i'm ready to feel life
ready to find out
and still the beauty if i care is always there where i can see and it is only in ourselves that we can choose to let it be but now i'm grounded at the gate in my attempt to save the world and that is such a sad idea, such a sad idea
and mama it's not just irrelevant nonsense
what are you hiding?
where is your conscience?
you don't even know me
do you know how that feels?
it feels like i'm no one it feels like i'm nothing (musical interlude)
and mama it's not just irrelevant nonsense
what are you hiding?
where is your conscience?
you expect me to follow
but i'm stronger than you
i'm ready to feel life
ready to find out
ready to find out
not afraid to find out...