

Hank Snow, Seasons

The seasons come and go but in my heart I know
Weather it's rain or snow our dreams hold back
The seasons drift on by like clouds across the sky
But we both realize that shadows pass

I would never change or try to rearrange a thing about you dear
I'll love you just the way you are through all the coming years
The seasons play their part and each one leaves its mark
But I know in my heart our love will last [steel]
I would never change...
