

Hank Williams Jr., I Hope It Rains Today

I had that dream again the same one I've had before
I heard you call my name saw you standing at the door
I reached out to hold you but you faded away
And the mood I'm in I hope it rains today
Your lips were there in the shadows warm and sweet
I tried to run to them but I had shackles on my feet
I heard you laughing at me in that old familiar way
And the mood I'm in I hope it rains today
I hope the clouds will cover up the sky
I don't want somebody's happy sunshine shining in my eyes
Our love was just a dream I couldn't make it stay
And the mood I'm in I hope it rains today and the mood I'm in I hope it rains today
