

Haven, Say Something

I won't say anything cos I don't mean it won't make a promise cos I won't keep it believe me now, I'd only lie to you well I've said that thought a thousand times I believe in something that I can't find so believe me now, I'd only lie to you now won't you say something please say something
and believe me now, I'd only lie to you I spend my time collecting all these scars and I know I'm, lying by the truth that's in your charm I hope down inside, I can't be what I'm not well I've said that thought a thousand times
I believe in something that I can't find
so believe me now, I'd only lie to you
now won't you say something
please say something
and believe me now, I'd only lie to you
now won't you say something
please say something
and believe me now, I'd only lie to you