Hayley Williams , My Friend

little Wrinkle by your eye I never noticed till right now little vicious tiger stripes if you get close-up to my thighs and when you're walkin' whit a limp I can remember the wolves at your heels when my shadow barges in you never question why she is here my friend when the blood has dried my friend instant alibi you've seen me from every side still down for the ride my friend you know why nor a secret I can't keep all of your good and your evil baby you can leave it whit me if it's wrong ot its right I am besides you, famine or fire

who could take your place who could take mine none could take your place none could take mine
