

Heartless Bastards, New Resolution

My new resolution is to be someone who does not take everything so seriously I want to laugh and joke and have a smoke and have a good time and join an institution that will fuel my mind whoever said ignorance, oh it was bliss well, there's something there that I declare they surely missed 'cause in the days and modern ways you'll get passed by try to have some fun
I always want to take it in stride

I was out there on an open sea
no direction, and no one to lead

And then I looked back in there how did we get there?
the water was foggy
but I didn't really care
'cause stagnancy makes me drown
and I really want to live

someone who does not care what anyone thinks of me 'cause I don't even like myself half the time and what's the use in worrying what's on other people's minds?

I was out there
on an open sea

And then I looked back in there
how did we get there?
'cause stagnancy makes me drown

And then I looked back in there
how did we get there?
'cause stagnancy makes me drown
