Heaven Shall Burn, Joel

Golden domes and massive towers False icons, show their perfect smiles

All joy and benefactions, they give it with a smile Big hearted deeds and wise words They donate it all with pleasure As you have paid the price Wise words of advice You should pay the price

Insignia of doubtful unions An untruth factory, the jesus industry

A preacher in a palace, deriding Luther's fight Jugglers rise to icons, fiddlers playing saints Selling hope and worship mammon Blindness, fear, delusion - their trinity As you have paid the price, welcome to paradise
