Hell Is For Heroes, Cut Down

Seven years wash up behind me And i'm wondering what the time is Its a question of perception And i don't want you with hurt There's an old man in the corner In his sunk and withered features See reflections of my future Will you join me there

I'm here to find the watershed (i can run away)
To shake the past away (i can run away)
To drown me in a pool of tears (i can run away)
And start another day (i can run away)

And now i've swallowed down the poison Sister will you still believe me Will you feed me down the serum Will you follow me

A secret haunts my favourite place So i cut down
