

Highwater Rising, Dropout

Fast asleep
when the phone rings and its late at night startled the lights are still on but you hang up before he can answer youve done it time and again and now your leaving
this town
you feel like dropping out you tell him that you called left a message there but surely thats not fair to tell the son
you hide from wide awake
and the nation is fast asleep pick up the phone call your son
this town
