

Hikaru Utada, Take A Little While

Take a little while to think things through
Take a little while to make things true
We don't have to rush
Take a little while to think things through
Take a little while to make things true
We don't have to rush
Like I said before
When I told you you're the only boy that I adore
It doesn't mean I'm askin'
For you to rush
Don't rush
Just wait
Cause I want you to
Take a little while to think things through
Take a little while to make things true
We don't have to rush
Take a little while to think things through
Take a little while to make things true
We don't have to rush
I can't just explain
This feeling
Am I gonna gain respect or will it all be in vain
I'm waiting day and night
For the answer
Don't rush
Just wait
I know this will last
Take a little while to think things through
Take a little while to make things true
We don't have to rush
Take a little while to think things through
Take a little while to make things true
We don't have to rush
There's no need to break my heart
You've had my love from the very start
Please wait
Take your time
Don't you rush this love of mine
Take a little while to think things through
Take a little while to make things true
We don't have to rush
Take a little while to think things through
Take a little while to make things true
We don't have to rush