

Hilary Duff, One last song

Someday we will find a place A place where love takes over hate And you will see all the things you