Hinder, Better Than Me

I think you can do much better than me After all the lies that I made you believe Guilt kicks in and I start to see The edge of the bed Where your nightgown used to be I told myself I won't miss you But I remembered What it feels like beside you

I really miss your hair in my face And the way your innocence tastes And I think you should know this You deserve much better than me

While looking through your old box of notes I found those pictures i took
That you were looking for If there's one memory I don't want to lose That time at the mall You and me in the dressing room I told myself I won't miss you But I remembered
What it feels like beside you

I really miss your hair in my face And the way your innocence tastes And I think you should know this You deserve much better than me

The bed I'm lying in is getting colder
Wish I never would've said it's over
And I can't pretend I won't think about you when I'm older
Cause we never really had our closure
This can't be the end

I really miss your hair in my face And the way your innocence tastes And I think you should know this You deserve much better than me

I really miss your hair in my face And the way your innocence tastes And I think you should know this You deserve much better than me (And I think you should know this) (You deserve much better than me)
