

Hoffsten Louise, Wherever You Go

(Larson / Hoffsten - Hoffsten)

we live in a time of hate and confusion lost our faith in future illusions no one can tell us the state of tomorrow still I know, wherever you go, I'll follow
still I know, wherever you go, I'll follow you can walk on water and walk through the fire dressed in a garland of barbed wire slippery roads of pleasure and sorrow
still I know, wherever you go, I'll follow
still I know, wherever you go, I'll follow even if you lead me astray I'd lost my self anyway angels keep singing up in their heaven I'm right here behind you now and forever the man in the moon is looking so hollow
still I know, wherever you go, I'll follow
still I know, wherever you go, I'll follow
still I know, wherever you go, I'll follow