

Holly Dunn, Strangers Again

Strangers Again

recorded by Holly Dunn, written by Holly Dunn and Chris Waters

Strangers again

Just like before

Not even friends

After bein' much more

Strangers again

And will be forever

It hurts when love ends

As strangers again

I always thought a stranger was

Someone I'd never met

But the one who passed me by today

I know too well to forget

We're strangers again

Back where we started

But we'll never begin

Cause we're strangers again

I always thought a stranger was

Someone I'd never met

But the one who passed me by today

I know too well to forget

We're strangers again

Back where we started

But we'll never begin

Cause we're strangers again

It hurts when love ends

As strangers again