

Holly McNarland, Water

I lost my friend
Near the water
And I loved her, though she left me
She smiled, she kissed me, she swam away
I loved my friend
Near the water

She loves me

I'll crouch beneath the boat
I'll learn to breathe
When I fall asleep
I want to die in water
I'll crouch beneath the boat
I'll learn to swim
Soon I'll have fins
I want to die in water

Every time I turn around
And I'm scared they'll see me
And every time I turn around
There's still no smile
And my eyes they hurt
From all the rubbing
And my mind it hurts
From my eyes

I'll crouch beneath the boat
I'll learn to breathe
When I fall asleep
I want to die in water
I'll crouch beneath the boat
I'll learn to swim
Soon I'll have fins
I want to die in water

She loves me

I'll crouch beneath the boat
I'll learn to breathe
When I fall asleep
I want to die in water
I'll crouch beneath the boat
I'll learn to swim
Soon I'll have fins
I want to die in water
I want to die
