

Home Grown, What Would Love Do Now

My Angel Left On Broken Wings

A certain cure for suffering and the side affects have torn my world in to A million pieces i cant fix a million questions i cant ask and i blame myself for leaving you alone with all this on your own

i keep holding on, even though your gone i still need you here, just wanna make this clear that you

you will always be...(apart)
always be a part of me, everything i do, every step every breath i breathe my head is ready to explode in this empty Black Alone, in this quiet bedroom we would call our home something to change with my life scene?? the silence here is deafining and u left this world and took my heart with you.... if u only knew

i keep holding on, even though your gone
i still need you here, just wanna make this clear that you

you will always be...(apart)
always be a part of me, everything i do, and every step and every breath i breathe... and every breath i breathe

you will always be a part of me
you will always be a part of me
you will always be a part of me you'll always be always be a part of you will alwyas be a part of me!!

and even though your gone (always be a part of me) i still need you here just wanna make this clear that you (always be a part of me)
you will always be...
(always be a part of me)
in everything i do, in every step and every breath i breathe.....