House Of Heroes, Drown

The water's at our knees It's rising while we speculate to its existing Sinking merrily Invincible, convinced no warning is worth heeding

The ocean deep and black That seemed so shallow Pulls me under

I'm not giving up that easy I'm not giving up on anything Long as I have lungs still breathing Learn to swim Before we drown

Come, come one and all And sacrifice your pride to find a new beginning Open up your ears And eyes to see our minds are still in need of changing

If we knew the truth Would we even care at all Or be pulled under

I'm not giving up that easy I'm not giving up on anything Long as I have lungs still breathing Learn to swim Before we drown

Grant us grace to change our minds
