

Howard Jones, Back In Your Life

Soon the warm night breezes roll on in
A steamy blanket for the shore
This is streetlight time
You said you were mine
So the fool believes
What the night conceives

The light of love is in your eyes
Is in your smile again
Is in your life again

Was a time when love grew cold for you
Turned your back on memories

I was there for you
I will see you through
Darkest hours fade
The promises we made
Were not the kind to fade away
We'll face another day
We'll face another day
When that was yesterday

Will the ocean rollers bring you home
Or will they take you out to sea
This is real-time
And you are still mine
The fool that loves his dreams
Breaks the cruellest schemes

The light of love is in your eyes
Is in your smile again
Is in your life again
Back in your smile again
Back in your life again